

Your Rights

& Responsibilities
as a Reader

You have the right to:

Have choice in what you read.

Abandon a book if you are uninterested or uncomfortable.

Read however you like: skip pages, listen to the audiobook, or read the ending first.

Re-read your favorites!

You have the responsibility to:

Respect the rights of others to read whatever they choose.

Challenge yourself to read about different topics, people and in a variety of formats.

Speak with your parent, teacher, or librarian if a book makes you uncomfortable.