LPS Families,

Earlier this afternoon, the Greater Kansas City Suburban Conference member school districts responded unanimously, by a 27-0 vote, to continue with sports and activities this fall. The press release, which includes updated conference recommendations, can be accessed by clicking here. Detailed information, including spectator capacities at competition events and other logistics, will be shared by our respective high schools very soon.

Liberty Public Schools continues to move forward with the Return to Learn plan for all students, which includes the first day of school date of Tuesday, September 8, 2020, in addition to face-to-face and virtual learning opportunities for all of our students. Today's announcement by the Greater Kansas City Suburban Conference will not affect any of our plans for student learning moving forward.

As we continue to stress, this remains an extremely fluid situation and one that always has the potential to change in the coming days and weeks. We are committed to remaining engaged with the Clay County Public Health Center and other local health officials as we navigate through this unprecedented time.

Thank you for your continued patience, flexibility, and grace, and have a great week!
